Re: All Inclusive Contracting – Jason Clouse

To Whom It May Concern,

For at least 12 years, Sherwin-Williams has provided Mr. Clouse and his company materials for projects in the residential and commercial markets. Personally, I have known Mr. Clouse since 2011 and have worked closely with him on a number of projects as a Professional Coatings Representative servicing the commercial market segment.

Most recently I, along with Sherwin-Williams, was able to provide over 1500 gallons of roof coating material for a large apartment project, Palm Canyon Apartments, in Tucson Arizona. In my experiences with All Inclusive Contracting they have consistently demonstrated an ability to provide quality workmanship and an ability to meet their customers' expectations regardless of the obstacles that are common with projects both large and small. For these reasons I am confident in providing a personal recommendation in the ability of All Inclusive Contracting to meet the needs of any roof coating project, regardless of its size.
