To whom it may concern,

Case, Huff & Associates is a commercial property management company that has been doing business in Arizona for over 25 years. We manage a 35,000 sq. ft. distribution warehouse in Mesa on behalf of a family trust. In May of this year, Jason Clouse and his crew at All Inclusive Contracting applied a silicone coating to the existing 15- year old roof of the building that was developing numerous leaks. They did an excellent job and after several monsoon storms since the completion of the work, the interior of the building has remained bone-dry.

Jason and his crew were very thorough in all phases of the job and Jason closely monitored the work personally. I had never used All Inclusive Contracting before and Jason was very accommodating to me in my due diligence requests for references and locations of other jobs, even meeting with me on the roof of a similar-sized building that All Inclusive had installed a silicone coating to approximately a year ago. That level of personal service, and Jason's ability to compete with other, more widely known names in the roofing business made me choose All Inclusive Contracting.

All Inclusive also painted various appurtenances at this same warehouse project for me such as fire hydrants, metal gates, safety bollards around electrical and mechanical equipment, and the metal exterior doors and the roll-up doors for the delivery bays.

I know I'll be calling Jason and All Inclusive Contracting frequently in the future as the opportunities arise.

Sincerely,
Case, Huff & Associates, Inc.
